THE LOW PRICES
We all want a good article at a low price. That's the real economy. But when under the lure of cheapness we are saddled with a poor article that is the opposite of economy. This is especially true in the case of optics where cheap unqualified treatment and cheap goods merely pave the way to expensive corrective operations later. Play safe. Go to a reliable optician.

Chinese Air Force Ordered To Stand By

CHIANG KAI SHEK IS A CHANGED CHINESE SOLDIER

German Press Comment On Fighting In North China

SERIOUSNESS NOT DISGUISED

Berlin, July 11.

The fighting in North China is featured prominently in the German press and no attempt is made to disguise its seriousness. Germany is evidently determined to observe with impartiality the communiques of both sides published with that objective.

The "Boersen Zeitung" in an editorial ascribes the immediate cause of the hostilities to frayed nerves due to heat but says that a deeper source is the dissident attitude of the people and army in North China towards Japan.

The editorial adds that such conflicts are always settled by compromise and this time the peaceful outcome depends on neither side bending the bow too fiercely.

The "Frankfurter Zeitung" writes:—

"Chiang Kai-shek is a changed Chinese soldier from a melancholy figure with sunshade to a sturdy soldier but Chiang's arm has not yet reached the outlying districts. This is proved by the events in Kalgan which is symptomatic of the remote and in no wise fully civilised districts in China."—Reuter.

ATMOSPHERE OF EXPECTANCY Paris, July 11.

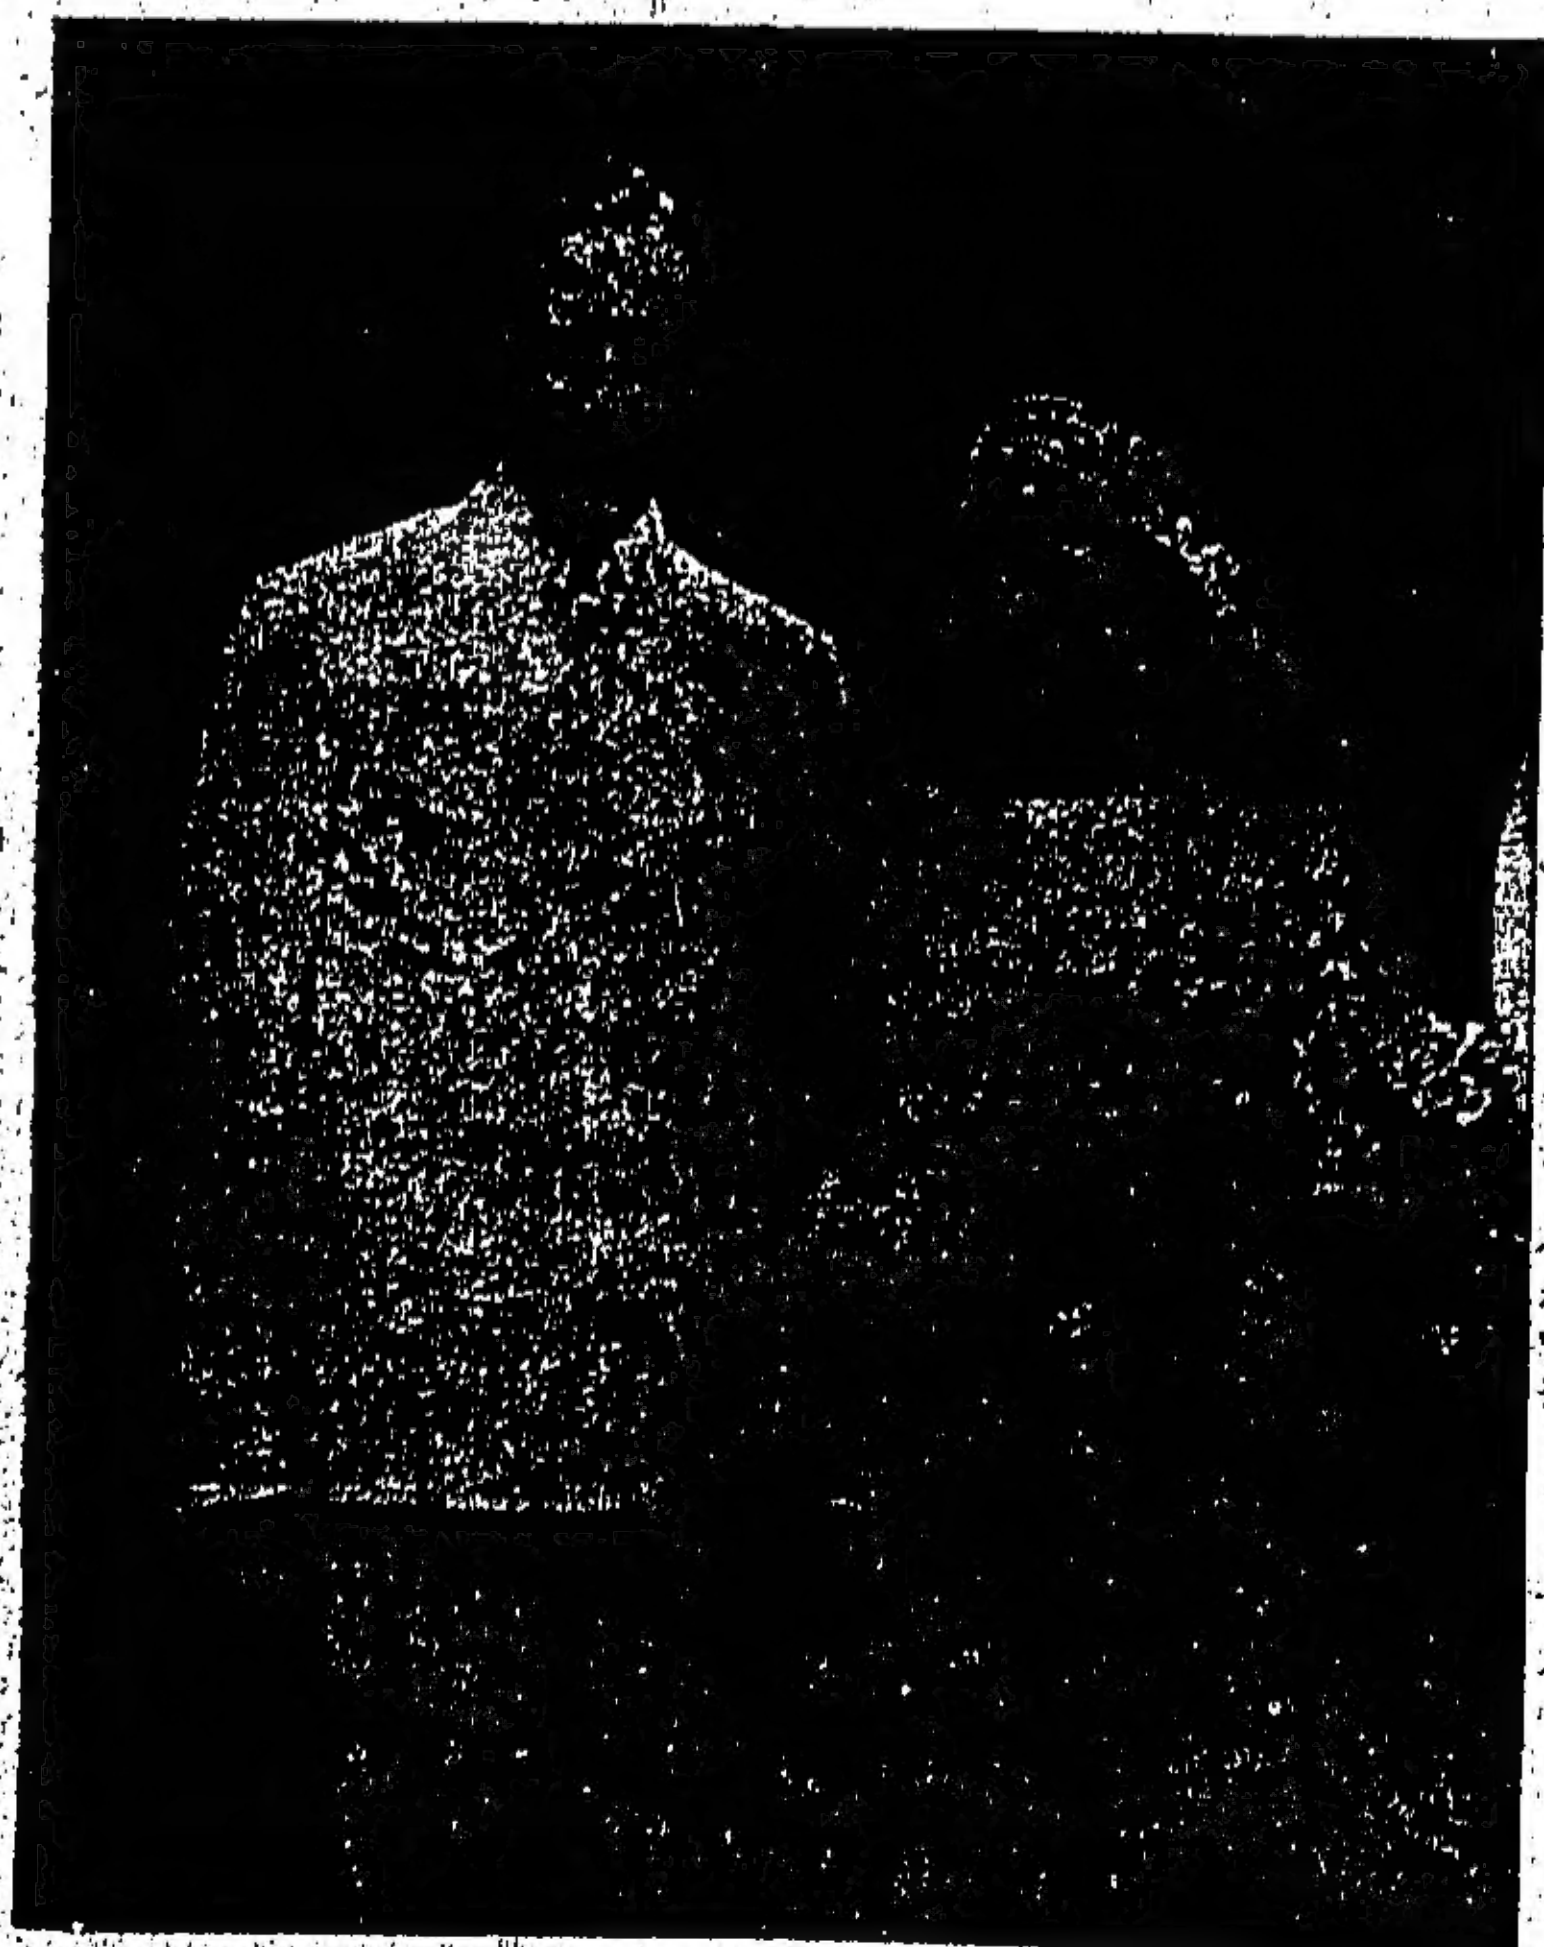

A spokesman of the "Quai d'Orsay" has declared that reports of the fighting has naturally aroused anxiety and international repercussions but owing to the conflicting nature of the reports the atmosphere is more one of expectancy than anxiety.

"We still lack the details necessary to form an accurate opinion," the spokesman added.—Reuter.

FOUR "CRACK" DIVISIONS MARCHING NORTH

Japanese Minister Confers With High Staff Officers

ANY ATTEMPT TO OCCUPY WANPING WILL BE RESISTED

Peiping, July 11.

Sandbags and other barricades are being hastily erected in the strategic parts of the streets here which have been completely cleared of civilians. All traffic was stopped at 6 p.m. with the exception of lorryloads of Chinese troops moving towards the gates. The renewal of hostilities broke up the Sino-Japanese peace conference in the house of General Chang Yun-yung, commander of Hopei and Paoanui.

A DOMESTIC MESSAGE FROM HANKOW STATES THAT FOUR DIVISIONS OF CHINA'S CRACK FIRST ARMY, KNOWN AS "CHIANG KAI SHEK'S OWN" HAVE BEGUN A MARCH NORTHWARD ALONG THE PEIPING-HANKOW RAILWAY ON ORDERS FROM NANKING AND THAT GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI SHEK HAS ORDERED THE CHINESE AIR FORCE TO BE READY FOR MOBILISATION.

FROM PEIPING IT IS LEARNED THAT TWO JAPANESE TROOP TRAINS PASSED THROUGH THE TOWN AND HAVE ARRIVED AT FENGTAI WHERE THE DETACHMENTS MOVED OFF IN DIFFERENT DIRECTIONS AS THOUGH TO ENCIRCLE PEIPING. ABOUT 100 TROOPS ARE REPORTED TO HAVE APPEARED NEAR THE SHICHONGSHAN SITE OF PEIPING'S ELECTRIC POWER STATION ABOUT 10 MILES TO THE NORTH-WEST OF THE CITY. THE TRAINS WERE LOADED WITH TANKS, ARMoured CARS, FIELD PIECES AND MACHINE GUNS.

CHINESE DEMANDS APOLOGIES AND GUARANTEES

Peiping: Two battalions of the 29th Army, concentrated near the Yungtingmen Gate, commanding the road to Wanping have torn up the railway track in order to prevent the approach of hostile forces. The Japanese are reported to have taken similar action near Fengtai and have thus hampered the movement of the Chinese troops.

FIRES FIGHTING

Peiping: Chinese military reports, issued at 11.40 p.m. asserted that fierce fighting was still going on in Wanping.

JAPANESE STATEMENT

Peiping: Chinese officials announce their intention to resist any attempt to occupy Wanping which, they allege, the Japanese covet as a military centre and from which place the Chinese troops withdrew in order to avoid friction. They have not, however, abandoned their garrison rights in this area.

The Japanese military spokesman here said that the Japanese wanted to "create a situation in Wanping which will make a recurrence of any incidents impossible." He, however, declined to elaborate upon this statement.

IRAQ OPPOSES PARTITION

Will Lodge Protest With Britain

Jerusalem, July 11.

The intimation that the Iraq Government will officially protest to the British Government against the proposed partition of Palestine has been received by the Arab Higher Committee from the Premier of Iraq who stated that Iraq opposed the partition and would help the Arabs in Palestine to secure their full national demands. The Emir of Kuwait replied in similar tones.

The Emir of Transjordan replied that the Royal Commission's report contains a profound moral which he advises the committee to study. He reiterates that he will not fail to assist the Arabs to attain their goal.—Reuter.

KING SETS NEW DRESS FASHION

The King set a fashion precedent recently at the opera, when he wore a watch chain across his white waistcoat.

"This is very unusual indeed," Mr. Malvern Evans, editor of "Tailor and Cutter," said. "The normal wear for such occasions is either an evening watch, worn, of course, without a chain, or a wrist watch."

"His Majesty's example is sure to be followed. Fashion has been watching the King very closely since his accession, and an innovation of the kind is bound to have some effect."

AMALGAMATION STORY DENIED

Bus Company And Yaumati Ferry

In view of the persistent rumours in circulation regarding a pending amalgamation of the China Motor Bus Company and the Hong Kong and Yaumati Ferry Company, a representative of "The Daily Press" interviewed Mr. Ngan Shing Kwan, of the Bus Company, yesterday.

Mr. Ngan emphatically denied that there was any truth in the rumour and when asked if there was any truth in the talk that his Company was contemplating a reduction in their fares smilingly asked, "Are our fares not low enough now?"

THE WEATHER

A report issued by the Royal Observatory states that 1.12 inches of rain were recorded during the 24 hours ended at 10 a.m. yesterday. This brings the year's total to 44.39 inches, against an average of 42.80 inches.

Saturday's maximum temperature was 87 degs with a night minimum of 78 degs. Yesterday at 10 a.m. the temperature was 83 degs, this being the same as at the same hour the day before with humidity at 90. The maximum temperature yesterday was 90 degs, this reading being taken at 4 p.m. The highest temperature on July 11, 1936 was 82.9 degs and the lowest 79.1 degs.

TEMPLE BAR NOT FOR SALE

Old Temple Bar, which used to mark the boundary between the City of London and Westminster, and which was taken down and re-erected in Theobald's Park, Hertfordshire, in 1887, is to remain where it is.

At a meeting of the London County Council Mrs. Ruth Dalton, chairman of the Parks Committee, said that a hundred acres of the park had recently been sold, but Temple Bar and its site were not included. She had been informed that Temple Bar was not for disposal.

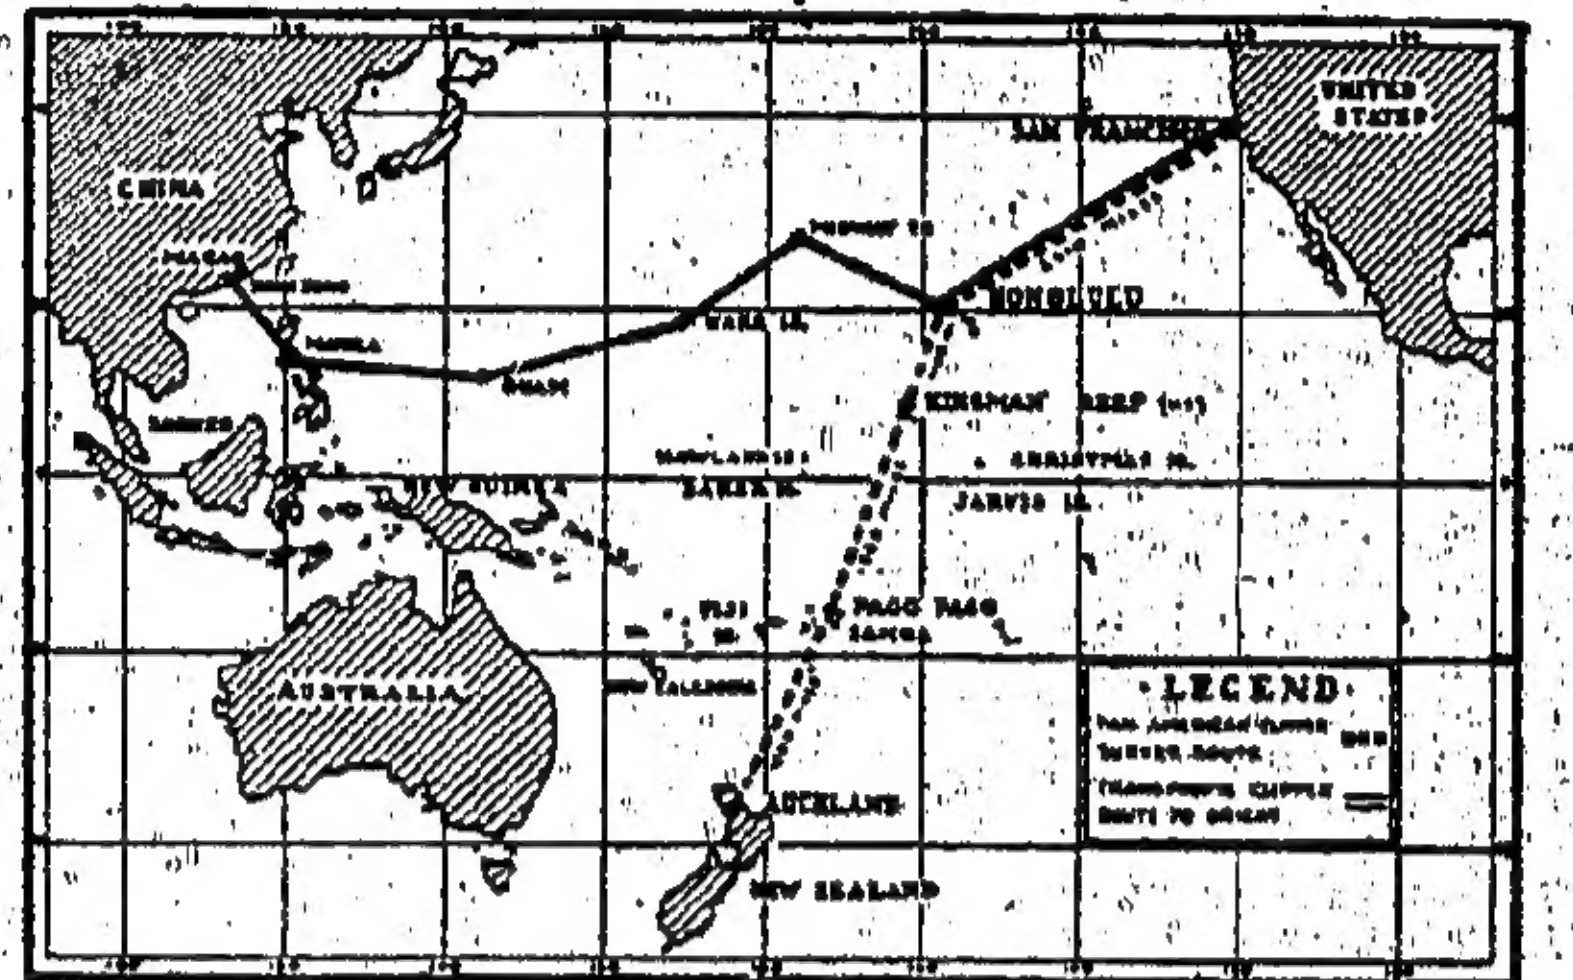

Bishop's Ban On Divorcees

The Bishop of Exeter, Dr. C. E. Curzon, told a Diocesan Conference at Exeter, that he would not allow the use of the Marriage Service in the case of a divorced person whose former partner was still living.

With regard to absolute excommunication, he added, "I cannot surrender the principle that God deals with sinners not according to their deservings, but according to their needs. Just because the Church is so emphatic and uncompromising on the ideal she can afford to be merciful to those who fall short of it. It is this principle of the Gospel which is now at stake and, in my judgment, the Church would indeed be in danger if, as some seem to desire, that principle were surrendered."

PACIFIC AVIATION

Successful Survey Flight

The Pan-American routes over the Pacific ocean.

A special Sikorsky S-42B aircraft, the Pan-American Clipper, recently completed a survey flight between the United States and Auckland, New Zealand, a distance of 7,000 miles in 49 flying hours. Mr. Edwin C. Musick, Captain of the "Pan-American Clipper," said that no problems were encountered which had not been anticipated from the routine observations made by the bases of Pan-American Airways plan for flying to New Zealand within 50 hours is practicable.

established at intervals along the route for some time. These bases have two-way radio, direction finding radio, a meteorological station, and living accommodation for the operating personnel. Weather conditions in the South Pacific area were found to differ radically from those encountered in the North Pacific but are similar to those with which Pan-American Airways plan for flying to New Zealand within 50 hours is practicable.

CHINESE SMUGGLED TO AUSTRALIA

Board Steamers In Hong Kong

Sydney, July 11.

The scheme for smuggling Chinese into Australia, which is believed to have been carried on for some time was detected by customs who say that parties of a dozen Chinese are smuggled aboard steamers in Hong Kong and hidden until they arrive at Geelong where they are secretly taken ashore at night. They are then taken by motor coach to the market-gardening district near Sydney. The majority work in the gardens but some are taken to Sydney in taxis.

A policeman stopped a taxicab and arrested three Chinese as prohibited immigrants. They stated in court through an interpreter that they paid a man in Hong Kong fifty dollars but they did not

MEMORIAL TO ADMIRAL PHILLIP

AUSTRALIA'S FIRST GOVERNOR

The memory of Admiral Arthur Phillip, R.N., founder and first Governor of Australia, was honoured recently when a tablet was unveiled in Bath Abbey by Lord Wakefield, Alderman of the Ward of Broad Street, London, where Phillip was born. The Admiral spent his last years in Bath, where he died in 1814. His grave was discovered 40 years ago in the churchyard of Bathampton, and before the unveiling ceremony in Bath Abbey Lord Wakefield and the Mayor of Bath (Mr. W. F. Long) visited the churchyard to place a wreath on this grave.

Our "Annoying" Language

No one will be surprised that Dr. Tuan Mao-lan, Secretary of China's Ministry of the Interior, finds English "rather annoying." states the "Manchester Guardian." Most of our foreign critics put it a good deal more forcibly than that. Dr. Mao-lan's objection is to "the richness of English in synonyms, and he declares, rather unexpectedly, that Chinese, far from being a difficult language, compares favourably with Basic English in the exigency of its vocabulary."

That Chinese is a condensed language everyone will admit. Did not an English diplomat once deliver a five-minute speech before a Chinese dignitary and have it translated by the Chinese interpreter into only four pregnant syllables? But it is a little surprising that Dr. Mao-lan does not mention the usual foreign stumble block to correct English—its pronunciation. He would have found, if he had, that a great many Englishmen would agree with him for not only is it hard for a foreigner to pick up good English, well spoken, but he seldom has the opportunity. What, for instance, would the good doctor make of the late Professor Raleigh's postcard to a friend, satirising one of our pronouncing faults?

So there is to be no new law to, shed in the Bow Bow. The paw paw-Baws will feel saw! The paw-Baws are an awful law! They gained no allow by taking the law! I set no stay by them. They are rotten at the saw. So no maw from Yawa—W. A. R.

Little wonder that the foreigner overhearing us can sometimes make nothing of our remarks.

In Bath Abbey Lord Wakefield said that they were united in affectionate remembrance of a great man who, at the close of a life of splendid and unselfish service to humanity, lived his last days as a citizen of Bath. To Arthur Phillip, to his courage and wisdom, his sense of justice, and his resourcefulness in face of difficulty and hardship, they owed the emergence of a great people, partners in the Empire. It was resolved that his memory should be honoured in the Motherland as it was honoured in the great Commonwealth of Australia, of which he was the founder. To that end, and in thankfulness to the Almighty for a life so rich in achievement, the city and people of Bath had created the memorial which he now unveiled.

A HERO OF THE RACE

Speaking at a luncheon given by the Mayor, Lord Wakefield said that the two memorials to Phillip—in London and in Bath—would endure to mark the beginning and the end of a career which it was now realized was rich in significance and influence.

The British Empire in its period of growth owed much to its navigators and explorers. Those gallant adventurers were rightly honoured, and Arthur Phillip ranked equally with them as one of the heroes of our race. By his work he made possible that splendid conception of citizenship and comradeship which was to-day the chief strength of the British Empire. It was to ensure that his fame should ever be remembered that in the Ward of Broad Street there had been established a permanent trust, which would safeguard the memorial itself, and that a yearly service of commemoration was held so that gradually it would become a place of pilgrimage.

Admiral Phillip had a profound grasp of the immense possibilities latent in the youthful colony. Within a few months of the establishment of the community, such was his far-seeing imagination that he was able to report to Lord Sydney his confident prophecy that "this country will prove the most valuable acquisition Great Britain ever made." In the then existing circumstances, that was a remarkable utterance. To-day, and indeed for generations past, it had been clear that Phillip's judgment was sound. Our kinsmen in Australia, historically still a young nation, stood in the eyes of the Motherland and of the whole world as a great people—in their strength of purpose and wealth of achievement—an example and an inspiration to all. The Australian man or woman stood to-day as a type of all that was finest in racial achievement.

Telegrams were read from the Governor-General of Australia, the Governor of New South Wales, and the Governor of Victoria.

POSSESSION OF TOBACCO

Lee Hing, a married woman, appeared before Mr. K. Keen yesterday at the Central Magistracy when she was charged with possession of a quantity of dutiable tobacco.

R. O. Grimitt for the prosecution said that the tobacco was hidden in a tin and in answer the defendant stated that a neighbour asked her to take it down for a relative.

A fine of $25 or one month hard labour was imposed.

It is notified that in exercise of the powers conferred by section 8 (2) of the Rating Ordinance, 1901, the Governor in Council has adopted wholly, as the valuation for the year commencing on July 1, 1937, the valuation made for the previous year of the tenements in those parts of the New Territories comprised in the urban area of Tsun Wan.

The number of Emigrants leaving the Colony for the Straits Settlements during the month of June, 1937, was 13,248.

It is notified that the names of Cinemas Limited, and De Souza and Co. Ltd. have been struck off the Register.

Hong Kong School For The Deaf

The Second Annual Speech Day of the Hong Kong School for the Deaf was held at the Mansang College Hall, Kowloon City, on Saturday afternoon, in the course of which the Bishop of Hong Kong, Rt. Rev. R.O. Hall, commented on the good work of the school, while Mrs. Hall distributed the prizes. Displays by the students were on view.

Amongst those present were: Rt. Rev. Bishop and Mrs. P. J. Rev. J.R. Higgs, Rev. Lee Kau Yan (Chairman), Rev. Edward Lee, Mrs. W.K. Cheung, Miss E.S. Atkins, Miss B.M. Pope, Mr. Cheung Wing Kai, Miss L.W. Li, Miss N.E. Elliott, Miss Li Luk Wa (Headmistress), Mrs. C. M. Bird, Miss S. Steele, Miss W. Robinson, members of Toc H and many others.

HEADMISTRESS' REPORT

Addressing the gathering the Headmistress, Miss Li Luk Wa said:

When we went into our new quarters the number of pupils was 20—17 boarders and three day pupils. Gradually more came, and now we have 23 pupils—19 boarders and four day pupils. At present the girls' hostel is quite full, and we are hoping to extend after the Summer. When the School was opened we only had six pupils. In two years' time the number has increased nearly four-fold.

GOVERNMENT GRANT

In December last we were inspected by the Inspector of Vernacular Schools, Mr. Law Yan Pak, who was satisfied with the children's progress, so we became a subsidised school with a Government Grant every year, which is a great help.

In January the children had a Medical Inspection by our Honorary School Doctor, Dr. C. W. Lee who gave us a satisfactory report of the children's health. We are also grateful from time to time for his medical advice, which relieves the Staff of much anxiety.

VISITORS

During the year we have had over 100 visitors to see the school. Among them were Miss Westling, the former Vice Principal of the School for the Deaf in the Philippine Islands, Miss Thorpe, the former C. M. S. Candidates Secretary, the Emmanuel Church Sunday School, Diocesan Girls' School, V. D. M. A. Group of St. Andrew's Church, the members of Toc H and many other friends.

DONATIONS

On behalf of the School Council, Staff, and pupils I would like to express our deep appreciation and thanks to all our friends, who have been so generous, as to send us donations and gifts from time to time and make it possible for us to bring happiness to the lives of our deaf children.

FINANCIAL HELP

As I have just said, we hope to extend after the Summer, in order to have room for more children and for this increase funds will be needed. We shall be very grateful for any financial help.

SURPRISE FOR SMOKERS

Some wise man has discovered why the smoker smokes. These are the reasons he gives, seven in all:

- 1.—Because you are bored;
- 2.—In imitation of others;
- 3.—In early years—because you want to feel grown-up;
- 4.—Because you do not want to feel unsociable, and it needs a slight exercise of strength of mind to refuse;
- 5.—Because you are collecting cigarette cards;
- 6.—Because it soothes your nerves;

"CALLING DR."

The new system, introduced in the Queen Mary Hospital, by which any doctor may be located with the minimum waste of time, has proved most successful. This is the amplifier system whereby loudspeakers are placed in each floor, these being worked by the telephone operator. When the "wanted" doctor hears his name called he goes to the nearest telephone, thus ascertaining the nature of the call.

ANGLO-AMERICAN TALKS

London, July 10.
Satisfactory progress is reported to have been made in Anglo-American talks which have been proceeding in Washington with the object of exploring the possibilities of a trade agreement between the two countries. According to the "Times" correspondent it is reasonable to hope that the experts engaged will be able to report to their respective Governments that they have agreed on common ground on which to open official negotiations.

The American demand, it is stated, cuts right across some of the Dominion preferences incorporated in the Ottawa agreements, and each Dominion will therefore have to be consulted before formal negotiations can be opened.

Once this stage has been reached, and after consultation with each Dominion, it may be found necessary to send a British trade mission to Washington to begin negotiations for that Anglo-American trade agreement which is strongly desired by both Governments.

TAIPO RURAL HOME

First Report Issued

A new experiment in social welfare work in the Colony was described in the first annual report of the Taipo Rural Home and Orphanage which was published on Saturday.

The object of the Home is to assist orphans and prepare them for life in villages and farms. The girls' section of the Home, thanks to donations received from England, is almost completely financed and supported, but on the Boys' section there is a gap to be filled as the scheme of rural training for boys is entirely new.

Briefly, some $10,000 is required for levelling the site at Taipo, the erection of the huts, the provision of water, fencing and animals. It is hoped to train 60 boys at a time, at a cost of $80 per annum per boy. Semi-permanent huts have already been erected and there are 13 boys in training, with applications for admission promising an increase to 30 in the next twelve months.

Contributions can be sent to The Right Rev. Bishop R. O. Hall, or the Treasurer, Mr. J. D. Danby, Alexandra Building.

At the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Sung thanked all those who had voluntarily subscribed towards the building of the Tabernacle which cost $45,000.

NIGHT MUST FALL

Adopting a technique of story construction that is entirely new on the screen, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer introduces a novel picture in "Night Must Fall," which opens at the King's Theatre to-day.
The film is a daring venture in the production field, but even more experimental for Robert Montgomery who deliberately chose to drop his accustomed heroic roles for the characterization of a pathological killer. His performance is remarkable from every standpoint.

AS GOOD AS MARRIED

To-day at the Alhambra Theatre, the New Universal's brilliant comedy drama, "As Good As Married" has its showing.
This picture is, with no exaggerated statement of fact, dazzling. New Universal has given it splendid production; fine cast, beautiful sets, and the best of writing and directing talent.
It is a novel story, centering around the efforts of a successful architect to save money on his income tax by marrying his beautiful secretary, who is in love with him. Naturally, there would be complications arising, and plenty arise in "As Good As Married."
Heading the cast are John Boles and Doris Nolan, whose recent triumph in Universal's super-musical, "Top of the Town," places her among the foremost comedienne of the screen.

UNDER THE RED ROBE

All the thrills of those adventurous days when men dared all for love live again in "Under the Red Robe," an exciting, swashbuckling romance, starring Conrad Veidt and Annabella, which is showing at the Queen's Theatre to-day.
A colourful and epic photoplay, the Twentieth Century-Fox release is based on the unforgettable story by Stanley J. Weyman, a best-seller for many years, and on the stage play by Edward Rose. In its current screen incarnation, it stands out as the greatest adventure of an adventurous era, and a magnificent romance that set a million hearts aflame.

MAYTIME

"Maytime," based on the unforgettable Broadway play by Rida Johnson Young, came to the Majestic Theatre on Saturday enhanced tenfold by the vaster resources of Hollywood and the artistry of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer workmen.
Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy are the stars and John Barrymore appears in his first role since "Romeo and Juliet." Lynne Carver, a screen newcomer, has the juvenile feminine romantic part with Tom Brown.
Noel Langley adapted the piece and the songs were written by Sigmund Romberg, composer of the original Broadway score, with Herbert Stothart, who composed the first screen operetta, "Chirita," which occupies a melodious sequence.

"PEACE"

LANSBURY VISITS MUSSOLINI

Rome, July 9.
Barely had Mr. George Lansbury, British Labour leader and unofficial ambassador for peace, set foot in Rome to-day after many hours of travel in sweltering heat than an automobile rushed him to the Palazzo Venezia, the headquarters and official residence of the Italian Dictator, Signor Benito Mussolini.
Wearing a badge with the single word "Peace" inscribed upon it and carrying his bowler hat, Mr. Lansbury, benign little emissary, was escorted up the broad staircase, past specially picked and strikingly uniformed musketeers, who wore the badge of the skull and cross-bones, and who raised their bright daggers in salute as he passed by. Thus he came to the great marble hall of reception where he met Signor Mussolini and Italy's Foreign Minister, Count Ciano.
The three men chatted in English for forty-five minutes, and Mr. Lansbury said afterwards they had discussed a world conference for the arranging of more equitable distribution of world resources.
He would see Signor Mussolini again on Monday, Mr. Lansbury stated.

CARDINAL PACELLI IN PARIS

Paris, July 10.
Cardinal Pacelli, the Vatican Secretary of State, who is on a visit to France, was received by the Foreign Minister, M. Yvon Delbos, yesterday afternoon.
The talks lasted for over an hour, though no information is available concerning the subject of the conversation.
Cardinal Pacelli's visit is attracting widespread attention, especially as no Papal Secretary of State has officially visited Paris since the beginning of the 19th century, although Cardinal Pacelli himself visited Lourdes in 1936 in order to attend the Eucharistic Congress.
The Cardinal yesterday inaugurated the Pontifical pavilion at the Paris Exhibition, and will later proceed to Normandy to attend the religious celebrations in connection with St. Theresa.

ALLEGIANCE OF MANKIND

London, July 10.
Lord Lothian, in a speech at Ashbridge, discussing subject of India, said that the decision at Warha of the Congress Working Committee was of immense importance not only to the British Commonwealth but also to the world. He took it to mean that the Congress had decided to achieve its objectives, if possible, by constitutional democratic methods and not by means which consciously or unconsciously led to revolution and violence. That did not mean that there would not be difficulties ahead. There would be difficulties because the present ideals of the Congress were still profoundly different from those embodied in the constitution. He hoped and believed that responsibility for the Government would diminish and not widen those differences. But the fact that, at this moment, when democratic and totalitarian systems were competing for allegiance of mankind, the Congress should have decided for the constitutional road to its goal, was an immense gain to the democratic world.

Prague, July 10.
The Sudeten German minority party in Czechoslovakia has been further irritated by the failure of the Czech Government to fix a date for the municipal elections following the announcement by the Premier, Dr. Milan Hodza, promising the elections in the Autumn.
Contrary to expectations, no decision on the elections has been taken by the Cabinet and according to the Sudeten Journal, this means that the elections will not be held in the Autumn, but will be delayed until next year.
The "Journal" says the postponement is tacit admission of the Government's weakness and the strength of the German minority group.

NON-INTERVENTION AGREEMENT

Lord Plymouth Replies To Criticisms

London, July 10.—Great Britain is not prepared to accept strictures upon her conduct in connection with the Spanish war, declared Lord Plymouth, chairman of the International Non-Intervention Committee, addressing a full meeting of that body to-day and answering criticisms levelled at his country.

Had other powers respected the letter and spirit of the Non-Intervention agreement in the same way as Britain, the position in Spain would be very different to-day, he said.

It was through no fault of the British Government, he went on, that the four major powers in Western Europe were no longer co-operating in the sea control scheme; and the question was: how could they effectively replace this "second line" in the observation scheme?

The withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain was of the greatest importance from Europe's and the world's point of view and unless the position was settled, the solution of the Spanish problem was well-nigh impossible of finding.

He had found, said Lord Plymouth, that the speeches of most of the other representatives to the international committee were non-constructive. But, in the meantime, the British Government was prepared to consider any proposal of a practical nature, better than the one already put forward by France and Britain.

SPEED ESSENTIAL

The Government, Lord Plymouth declared, thought no solution was possible unless the general spirit of the powers became more accommodating. But if the British Government were to undertake the task of mediator speed was essential.

The German, Italian and French representatives then announced their Governments' adhesion to the attitudes already expressed.

The Russian Ambassador, M. Malinsky, supported the Anglo-French proposals for the continuation of the control scheme off the Spanish coast. The Portuguese representative agreed to respect any satisfactory solution.

The Committee then voted Great Britain unanimous support in the task of mediation.

GRAVITY APPRECIATED

Lord Plymouth thereupon expressed the British Government's realisation of the gravity of the situation.

If success were to be achieved, he said, the maximum of co-operation would be required from all concerned.

They would call a fresh meeting of the Committee for July 12, he said, when the results of the British efforts would be communicated to the representatives.

With regard to the meeting, to-day, it is remarked in London that there has been no break-down in non-intervention—and the gathering dispersed in a far better atmosphere than when, at the beginning, a complete deadlock was envisaged.—Reuter.

RANCE TO CONTROL THE PYRENEES FRONTIER

London, July 10.—The French threat to suppress control along the Pyrenees frontier should Portugal not reestablish control along her Spanish border by the beginning of next week was the principal event in Friday morning's sitting of the full non-intervention committee.

The discussion opened with a short speech by the Chairman, Lord Plymouth, whereupon the Italian Ambassador, Count Grandi, made a new long expose of the German-Italian proposals for rendering non-intervention more effective.

EFFECTIVE CONTROL

The French Ambassador, M. Corbin, after announcing the French Government's decision regarding the control on the Pyrenees frontier, went on to say that without effective sea control the continued existence of the Non-Intervention Committee would be jeopardised. M. Corbin also declared his readiness to consider other suggestions.

After the Portuguese representative had expressed support of the Anglo-German proposals, the Soviet Russian Ambassador, M. Malinsky, strongly criticised the policy of Germany and Italy to which criticism the German Ambassador, Herr von Ribbentrop, replied, recalling the assistance invariably given the Spanish Bolsheviks by Soviet Russia ever since the outbreak of the Spanish Civil War.

The Committee's afternoon sitting commenced at 4 o'clock.—Transocean News Service.

Rights Of Belligerency

London, July 10.—The Reich Government is of the opinion that the Italo-German plan proves its own qualifications and that it would be difficult to find a better scheme which is practical and could be carried out and which would apply to the fundamental principles of non-intervention in Spain.

So declared the German Ambassador, Herr von Ribbentrop, at yesterday's committee meeting.

The German Ambassador discussed the German plan in detail, pointing out the results that could be expected from its application.

He declared that according rights of belligerency to both sides in Spain would constitute a decided strengthening of the non-intervention ideal.

COMMUNISTIC SPAIN

Commenting on the objection that the plan favoured General Franco, he asked whether the mission of the non-intervention committee was to regulate the military chances on one side or the other according to sympathies or to endeavour actually and honourably to enforce non-intervention.

Concluding, he emphasised that Germany and Italy did not wish a Communistic Spain.

"When I look about me here at this table," he declared, "I do not believe that there are many Powers who wish a Communistic Spain."

NEW ALLEGATIONS

"We must realise, however, that the Comintern is constantly at work and will stir up as much disorder as possible because it lives from unrest."

"The newest propaganda is that Germany and Italy have territorial claims in Spain."

ADEQUATE GUARANTEES

"The Italian Ambassador pointed out clearly that adequate guarantees in this respect had been given both by Germany and Italy, and it is a pity that such statements, the propagandistic character of which cannot be denied, find even the slightest credence in the press."

"I, in any case, cannot agree that such extravagant combinations have the slightest influence on our serious non-intervention deliberations in this committee, since we all know that the Spain of General Franco has no desire to be other than a national Spain."—Transocean News Service.

FRENCH "ULTIMATUM" WITHDRAWN

London, July 10.—Well-informed circles emphasise that a setback at Friday's non-intervention meeting was only averted and but temporarily by plan of conferring on the British Government a mandate to seek some means of escape from the present impasse.

At the close of the afternoon session, which lasted several hours, the chairman, Lord Plymouth, expressed a wish to have a free hand and enough time to exercise the mandate.

All the Powers agreed to confer this mandate on Britain and declared themselves prepared to grant the request for time, so that a further session of the committee is not now to be expected before Wednesday.

Some ambiguity arose in connection with the attitude of the Franco-Spanish and Portuguese-Spanish frontiers, as announced by the Ambassador, M. Corbin.

M. Corbin later agreed, however, that Britain should have whatever time she required for execution of the mandate.

ULTIMATUM WITHDRAWN

This would mean that the French ultimatum on the frontier question would be withdrawn, but it is not known whether M. Corbin has received instructions from Paris to retract his statement.

The question is now being asked: "What will the French Government do at the beginning of next week?"

No official communique on yesterday's session has yet been issued but it is believed that when it does appear, it will be just as exhaustive as the communication about the last meeting and will give full details.

NE CORBIN'S DECLARATION

It appears that M. Corbin declared that if supervision of the Portuguese frontier was not resumed without delay, France would find herself obliged to notify the committee that it could not consent to French territory alone being subjected to supervision and that consequently France could no longer recognise the right to continuation of supervision.—Transocean News Service.

FRENCH DELEGATE'S ATTITUDE

Paris, July 10.

The sudden adamant attitude of the French delegate at Friday's non-intervention meeting is believed to be due to instructions he received from Paris on Thursday night.

The Vice-Premier, M. Leon Blum, is reported to have stressed the fact at Thursday's meeting of the Cabinet that he could not hope to win the support of the Socialist Party for the Government and especially for the financial emergency measures unless the Government took an attitude in foreign affairs which was acceptable to the party.

The Premier, M. Camille Chauvins, is said to have agreed with M. Blum and to have approved instructions to the Ambassador in London in which he was ordered to threaten the committee with opening of the Franco-Spanish frontier unless the Portuguese frontier was again placed under control by the beginning of next week.—Transocean News Service.

FRANCO-SPANISH FRONTIER

Official Control Suspended

Paris, July 10.

Official control of the Franco-Spanish frontier is to be suspended as from Tuesday this week.

This development in the Spanish situation was announced by an official spokesman of the Quai d'Orsay this morning.

Neutral observers will be in a parallel position to the observers on the Portuguese-Spanish frontier. They are remaining at their posts in order that they may be ready to resume their duties if the outcome of the non-intervention deadlock is favourable.

The French Government, however, is not allowing war materials to pass through the frontiers to Spain.—Reuter.

PRESERVATION OF PEACE IN EUROPE

London, July 10.

Although tension has been relaxed as a result of yesterday's decision by the Non-Intervention Committee to invite the British Government to attempt to break the deadlock which is holding up the Spanish control scheme, it would be rash to assume that matters will easily resolve themselves merely because concord has been found on the next mode of procedure.

On the contrary, it is recognised that a week-end of intensive labour lies before the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden, and his advisers.

They are left with full discretion to make the necessary soundings in whatever way they think best, and they are already addressing themselves with the utmost urgency to their task in the hope of being able to report the results to the full Committee at a meeting early next week.

SEA OBSERVATION SCHEME

The difficulties that lie before them, however, are serious.

In the British view, either the gap in the sea observation scheme must remain open or someone must be found to fill it. Britain's offer to fill it arose solely from an earnest desire to save the non-intervention scheme as a whole but the proposals made were rejected by Germany and Italy who made counter proposals which in their turn were not acceptable to the British Government because they would eliminate from sea observation a vital part of the coast of Spain.

It is generally recognised that if the British Government can stay over the International breach over Spain they will have made a major contribution to the preservation of peace in Europe.—British Wireless.

In 1919-22 he was with Sir Herbert Heath when the latter was Commander-in-Chief, Coast of Scotland, and for the next five years was secretary to Admiral Sir Henry Buller, commanding H.M. Yachts. From 1929 to 1936 he served as secretary to the late Admiral of the Fleet Sir John Kelly when the latter was Admiral Commanding Reserves, Commander-in-Chief, Home Fleet, and Commander-in-Chief, Portsmouth.

THE ARMY

REORGANIZING THE INFANTRY

The reorganization of the infantry is now being effected, and it is hoped to have all five divisions of the field force at home regrouped this summer. The new plan gives an infantry brigade three rifle battalions of a homogeneous character and a number of the light portable Bren machine-guns. Since the three infantry brigades which go to make up a division thus number nine battalions instead of 12, the balance of power is restored by placing two of the new machine-gun battalions in divisional support of the infantry firing line with the heavier type of gun.

Some delay in the reorganization is inevitable, since the 1st Division still has its 2nd Brigade on special service in Palestine, while the 2nd Division is only made complete by bringing in the Guards from London, and the 4th and 5th are in transition and awaiting new orders. The 3rd Division is complete, and may be taken as the typical division of the future. Its infantry organization takes the following form:—

3rd Division—Headquarters, Bulford.
7th Infantry Brigade, Tidworth.
2nd Bn. Royal Warwickshire Regt.; 1st Bn. Loyal Regt.; 2nd Bn. King's Shropshire LI.
8th Infantry Brigade, Devonport.
2nd Bn. The King's Regt.; 1st Bn. Suffolk Regt.; 2nd Bn. Royal Sussex Regt.
9th Infantry Brigade, Portsmouth.
2nd Bn. The Queen's Royal Regt.; 1st Bn. Green Howards; one other to replace 1st Bn. Rifle Brigade.

Divisional Infantry—2nd Bn. Gloucestershire Regt. (machine guns) attached to 8th Brigade for administration; 2nd Bn. Middlesex Regt. (machine guns) attached to 9th Brigade for administration. Other Troops—1st Bn. The A. and S.H. (machine guns) in reserve under orders of Southern Command and attached to 7th Brigade for administration; 1st Bn. Rifle Brigade (rifle battalion detached for mechanized use with Cavalry and temporarily with 9th Brigade).

The other divisions conform to this plan in general, and the battalions marked out for conversion to machine gunnery are now all allotted their places. The 2nd Battalions, The Royal Northumberland Fusiliers and The West Yorkshire Regiment will be the machine gunners for the 1st Division at Aldershot; the 2nd Bn. Royal Scots Fusiliers, and 1st Bn. Royal Welch Fusiliers, serve the 2nd Division at Aldershot; the 4th Division will have the 2nd Battalions, The Devonshire and The East Surrey Regts.; the 5th Division gets the 1st Bn. The Royal Scots, and 2nd Battalions, the Cheshire and Manchester Regts. The latter thus has one more machine-gun battalion than the other divisions as a temporary measure. The "spare" M.G. Battalions held under Command orders are the 2nd Bn. Royal Fusiliers, at Shorncliffe, and 1st Bn. A. and S.H., at Tidworth.

SCHOOL LEAVING CERTIFICATE

Criticism Justified

The sharp criticism of the existing system governing the School Leaving Certificate examination in Hong Kong, made by the Rev. C. B. R. Sargent, Headmaster of the D.B.S. on Friday, was admitted to be justified by Mr. E. J. Edwards, Chairman of the Local Examination Syndicate, in an interview on Saturday.

ALTERNATIVE SUBJECTS

Mr. Edwards explained that the anomaly might possibly arise from the fact that where alternative subjects are taken in an obligatory group, the student is required to select in advance which subject he is to be judged by and abide by his selection. Thus, if he passed with full marks in a subject which he did not select and failed on the one he chose for himself, he would be failed. With 100 marks on each of A and B subjects and none on C, he would fail if he elected to be judged on C. Another student, obtaining 100 marks on A and B and electing both would pass.

Mr. Edwards said that the date on which examination applications must be received had been extended as far as possible in order to allow candidates to make quite sure in their own minds which subjects they were most likely to succeed in. If an examination was to be held in May, and entries had to be in by February, a boy might make a mistake in estimating his capabilities but he should be in a position by the end of April to be quite certain as to his strongest subject.

POSSIBLE SOLUTION

A possible solution, continued Mr. Edwards, would be to allow candidates to pass any two of the three subjects and, within strict limits, weaknesses in either part of the group would be compensated by strength in the other. This system may be adopted in the future.

There are a hundred and one problems connected with school examinations which are bound to crop up. A Syndicate composed of representatives of all Government and Grant-in-Aid schools, whose members sit annually by rotation, governs the system and this body is responsible for investigation of difficulties that arise.

TRINITY VII

Cathedral Sermon

The Rev. H. W. Baines preached the following sermon at St. John's Cathedral yesterday.

There are to-day two reasons beside those I mentioned last Sunday which put people off taking the teaching of Jesus seriously as a guide for daily life. First, people say, He demanded a standard of perfection impossible for a man living in the world. Secondly, His teaching required such an absolute renunciation of the world and its rewards as no man could face who took life on earth seriously. So far as the first point goes, it may safely be said that it is for the most part an argument used by those who wish (and by all of us who wish at some time) to escape from the full burden of Christ's demands. But the second objection to the relevance of Christ's teaching is more serious. If it be true that Christ gave no immediate practical teaching about marriage or politics or society, and if, further, you pay attention to His commands to detach yourself from family claims, from hopes of wealth or comfort, from the Cross of self-denial and other-worldliness is your symbol, what practical application can His teaching have?

CHARGE OF INDIFFERENCE

We can at once dispose of the charge of indifference in the case of Jesus. Whatever He said or left unsaid about human life, He spoke from within and not without it. A Man among men, knowing human life from inside, He spoke with unique and incontestable authority and not as the Scribes.

PROMINENT ELEMENT

The most prominent element in Christ's teaching was His reiterated extreme demand for renunciation, or detachment from the normal interests and claims of society. And this teaching is enforced for anybody who realises how blessedly quick He was, in life and His parables, to recognise the good in common men, their family life and relations, and in their occupations.

WISDOM WHICH HE TAUGHT

Recent psychology has underlined the wisdom which Jesus taught. Recognise and appreciate the world you are in, it teaches, but let your guiding light be outside it.

Jesus practised what He preached. He did not live in the world of claims and counterclaims, of rights and privileges which bind most of us. He was the new morality. Living without reserve among men and shrinking from none of the consequences of that resolve, He was yet utterly free from worldly standards and values and mental habits. Always He brought the fresh light of God. No life was too low, no conditions too common for Him to enter; no standards or codes were so venerable that He dared not oppose them. Not one of us would not give all we have got to possess that unreserved generous humanity of His and to be free with His liberty a disciple of the absolute love of God instead of struggling to keep the average standards of human life. So let us hear again "Lay not up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt and thieves break through and steal, but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven—God's treasures. For where your treasure is there will your heart be also."

MAN BEATEN TO DEATH

Mob Rule In Territories

BODY FOUND IN HAY-STACK

Alleged to have attempted to steal two chickens by force from an aged widow, a man, who appeared to be an opium addict, was beaten to death by a mob of villagers in the New Territories who had taken the law into their own hands.

His body was found early yesterday hidden in a haystack about eight feet away from the main road near the Ho Tung Bridge. The bruises on his body and the fact that his hands were tied behind his back with rope roused the suspicions of the police and investigations were set afoot.

It was disclosed in a police report that about 3 a.m. yesterday an unknown man broke into the hut of a widow, named Lo Kiu, at Liu Village, and attempted to steal two chickens. It was alleged, Lo was awakened from her sleep by the intruder and called out "thief."

Deceased, who was in possession of a small chopper forced the woman to the ground and escaped with the spoils.

Shortly after about 30 villagers, who had heard the alarm raised by the aged widow, armed themselves with poles and sticks and set out to look for the robber.

A thorough search was then carried out in the village, and the mob eventually found deceased hidden in a haystack.

The man had no chance of escape and was dragged from his hiding and beaten to death. His hands were tied behind his back and his body was left in the haystack where it was discovered and removed to the Kowloon mortuary by the police.

SOCIALISTS SCOLDED FOR SNOBBERY

MR. ORMSBY-GORE'S ATTACK

Socialist Members were scolded for snobbery in the House of Commons recently. Repelled by a mention of "class," Mr. Ormsby-Gore, Colonial Secretary, loosed his feelings upon them with sudden vehemence.

He had, in reply to a question, reminded the House of the names of the seven members of the Colonial Advisory Committee who, by a coincidence, are all Knights. Why, asked Mr. Sorensen, Socialist back-bencher, were they all chosen from one class?

Mr. Ormsby-Gore (heir of Lord Harlech and son-in-law of the Marquess of Salisbury), starting back as if someone had tried to hit him, rapped out: "The great thing in this House is always to get rid of the beastly idea of class. There is no such thing."

He paused for a moment and then, as if not quite sure that Mr. Sorensen had taken his meaning, he underlined his protest:

"It is a disgusting snobbery to use that expression. It is really ridiculous for the Honourable Gentleman to suggest that he and I are of a different class. All this idea of a class war and a class bias simply makes me disgusted."

A POTPOURRI OF WIT AND WISDOM

DRAGON FISH AT THE ZOO

Caught By Tunny Angler In Diving Suit

Four dragons have arrived at the London Zoo.

Not the thunderous, fire-eating dragons of folklore, but peaceful, inoffensive fish from the East Coast of Africa. Nevertheless, their arrival, complete with scarlet and grey waving wisps of fins, has created a stir in the Aquarium.

Most disturbed as he watched the newcomers inspecting their tank was the Zoo's veteran Dragon Fish, who has been in solitary possession for more than a year. Not only had the four, who are close friends after their trying voyage in a tank, disturbed his peace, but they had also taken possession of his favourite rock.

Glowing, he paced up and down the far end of the pool like a clubman who has had his chair taken by a new member. The intruders, secure in their numbers, gazed at him placidly.

KEEPEE'S SYMPATHY
"It's not only the fact that he has to share his tank which is annoying him," said his keeper with sympathy, "but I think he is afraid that he will have to share his food as well. Of course, he won't, but he doesn't know that, and he eats 12 shrimps or minnows a day."

"They will pal up in time I hope, as we are very glad to get the new fish. Colonel E. T. Peel, the well-known tunny angler, caught them by putting on a diving suit and chasing them in 10 feet of water."

Next door the Aquarium's two characters, Bertram, the Spotted Puffer Fish, who swells to the size of a football when angry, and the Trigger Fish from Madeira, also looked annoyed. Bertram, half inflated, peered gloomily from a hole in a rock; the Trigger Fish had hooked himself by his trigger to a projecting spur, a sure sign that he was put out.

"You see, they know the dragons have arrived," said the keeper, "and being old inhabitants here of some two years standing, they don't like it."

JAPANESE CONSULAR CHANGES

Canton, July 11.

Concluding 17-month service in Canton, Mr. Sadaji Yoshitake, Acting Japanese Consul in Canton, left here on Sunday evening for Hong Kong to board the N.Y.K. liner Yasukuni Maru for Japan where he will stay for a month prior to taking over his new post in Taingtao in the same capacity.

Recently Mr. Yoshitake was sent by Consul General Toyochi Nakamura to Swatow to assist Consul Selschiro Yamazaki in determining the facts of the Yiyoshi Aoyama case. Since then he had been unwell, but is now recovered.

Despite the North China situation, Japanese nationals in Canton go about their work as usual. Most of them live in Shamen, and only a few reside in the city.

Mr. Yoshitake will be succeeded by Mr. Shinichi Hayasaka, vice-consul in Paochen, Shantung who will arrive in Canton on July 20.—

WOMEN IN SOCIETY AND POLITICS

Canton English Forum Lecture

An interesting lecture was delivered by Mr. K. B. Valdy, Editor-in-Chief of the "Canton Daily Sun" at the Canton English Forum Society, in the local Y.M.C. building on Saturday on the "Women's Part in Social and Political Progress of a Country."

Mr. Valdy said that in the field of politics, woman can perform the best service by inculcating among the juvenile population the spirit of right nationalism and unalloyed patriotism from the early age. Instead of being M.P.'s or Diplomats or Administrators. Although the Queens of the British history have achieved greatest triumphs, this may again perhaps be due to man's generosity and a sense of chivalry towards female rulers.

As diplomats women cannot be accepted as they are perhaps garrulous and the calmness of judgment cannot be expected from them. The heart rather than head rules a woman, and for the same reason they cannot be good administrators.

It is thus not a question of superiority of one over the other. It is a mere division of labour between the two wheels of society, man and woman, and they are each of them supreme in their own spheres.

CALCUTTA SOLICITOR SUSPENDED

APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL

An appeal is to be made to the Privy Council by Captain Allan E. Ker, V.C., a Calcutta solicitor, who was suspended from practising as an attorney by the Calcutta High Court for a period of 18 months.

The case was heard by Justices Costello, Panckridge and Edgley, and arose from previous litigation concerning two companies for whom Captain Ker acted as attorney. A Mr. F. L. Harcourt was sentenced to 18 months' rigorous imprisonment for falsification of accounts. A rule has now been issued on the application of Harcourt calling on Captain Ker to show cause why his name should not be removed from the rolls of attorneys, or alternatively suspended from practice. Harcourt conducted his own case.

Justice Panckridge in his judgment said, while none of Harcourt's charges of professional misconduct were sufficient for the order asked for, an affidavit filed by Captain Ker in order to avoid facing an examination under the India Companies Act, contained false statements made with the deliberate object of deceiving the Court. In their Lordships' opinion the Court should be able to rely on statements of attorneys. Capt. Ker should be suspended for 18 months.

BRITAIN'S TRADE

GRATIFYING FIGURES

Both imports and exports during April were substantially higher in value than a year ago, but some of this increase may be attributed to the fact that last year Easter fell in April, whereas this year the whole of the holiday fell in March. Exports of United Kingdom goods increased by £2,599,887 or 28.7 per cent., compared with April, 1936, exports of imported merchandise by £1,352,438 or 22.3 per cent., and imports by £16,207,271 or 24.3 per cent. Exports of imported merchandise were the highest since June, 1930.

Compared with March, 1937, imports increased by £1,795,519 or 0.2 per cent.; exports of United Kingdom goods were slightly lower—a decrease of £442,592, or 1 per cent.—and exports of imported merchandise increased by £557,847 or 8.3 per cent.

The visible adverse balance was £32,569,380 for April, 1937, compared with £27,314,432 for April, 1936, and £32,504,818 for March, 1937. For the four months ended April, 1937, the visible adverse balance was £121,225,581 com-

RUXTON'S TRIAL REVIEWED

Clue Of "Cyclops Eye"

TWO THEORIES

"The Trial of Buck Ruxton," edited by R. H. Mundell and Professor G. Haswell, Hodge, 10s. 6d. (Notable British Trials series.)

If the Ruxton crime had been created by a detective novelist, undoubtedly he would have made as the central clue to its solution the cyclops eye—a peculiar form of maldevelopment arising from a "monstrous birth"—which was discovered among the remains of the two victims found at Moffat.

Yet the first comprehensive record and discussion of Ruxton's trial, made available, shows that no definite conclusion was reached following the introduction of this most unusual feature into the case and that, contrary to all the rules of imaginative fiction, the judge appeared rather to consider it an accidental finding without significance—a view not shared by the editors of the book.

They devote special attention to the implications which might have arisen from the discovery. It was not possible, from the eye alone, they state, to say whether it was of human or of animal origin. Professor Bish, the anatomist, they point out, stated that the preservation of the eye was different from that of the other remains, but the matter was not taken any further.

MUSEUM POSSIBILITY

"Had this been done," it is added, "the witness might have pointed out that the preservation was, in fact, better than that of the other soft tissues, and that the eye presented all the appearances of a museum preparation."

From this a curious possibility arises. . . . Could it have been shown that he (Ruxton) had possessed such a specimen and that it was no longer in his house, it might have been suggested that Ruxton, in desperation and to prevent the remains from declaring themselves, and being obviously unable to purchase formalin in any quantity at such a time, had sprinkled the preservative from a specimen on to the remains, and had accidentally discarded the specimen itself.

On the other hand, it is argued, could it have been proved that the eye was human, and had its preservation been less perfect, it is conceivable that the defence might have suggested that Mary Rogers had been killed as the result of a certain operation by one, who, to conceal his crime had then murdered Mrs. Ruxton.

This detailed description and analysis of the Ruxton case establishes its claim to be included among the most remarkable of all crimes.

Some of the facts of the trial show how determined the Crown authorities were to secure Ruxton's conviction. The hearings in the police court, at the Assizes, and in the Court of Criminal Appeal occupied 24 full days. At the Assizes there were 106 witnesses for the prosecution, whereas only Ruxton himself was called for the defence. There were 213 exhibits, nine of which comprised 124 photographs; and six elaborate medical reports on the Moffat remains.

MARRIED NAVAL OFFICERS

M.P. Questions First Lord

In House of Commons Mr. Hall-Caine (C. Dorset) asked the First Lord of the Admiralty whether the inquiry into the advisability of according naval officers the same privileges with regard to marriage allowances as Army and Air Force officers was yet complete.

Mr. Duff-Cooper replied:—Representative officers in the Fleet of all ranks have been consulted through the Commanders-in-Chief on all stations. Definite proposals have been formulated and are now under active consideration, but I am afraid that I am not in a position to say when a decision will be reached.

Mr. Hall-Caine—Does the Minister hope to make known the decision on this subject before the Summer Recess?

Mr. Duff-Cooper—I am afraid I cannot make a promise.

"EARL BALDWIN SHOULD TOUR THE EMPIRE"

To Give "Counsel And Advice"

The desire of overseas people that Earl Baldwin might make an Empire tour and perhaps give counsel and advice where needed, was referred to by Mr. Walter Elliot, Secretary for Scotland, when he spoke at the Founder's Day celebrations of the Bonar Law College, Ashridge recently.

Mr. Elliot, deputising for Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister for Co-ordination of Defence, who was prevented from attending owing to Imperial Conference work, said no man was more respected in the United Kingdom and outside it than Lord Baldwin. Overseas people realised what a great asset he had been to the Empire and they wished he would travel to see them, meet Empire problems face to face, and, perhaps, give counsel and advice where it might be needed.

Remarking that Lord Baldwin was once at Ashridge, Mr. Elliot added, "We are not at the end of these men yet. We will have more, we will breed and educate others."

AIRPORT GOLD THEFT

Decision In Claim Against Imperial Airways

Mr. Justice Porter in the King's Bench Division, gave his considered judgment on preliminary points on the action arising out of the theft of gold from Croydon airport in May, 1935.

F. M. Philippon and Company, of Brussels, claimed damages from Imperial Airways for breach of contract or duty in the carriage of bullion by air.

The points for decision, which arose on the defence put forward, and the Judge's answers were:

- (1) Whether the contract of carriage in the consignment note was subject to the Carriage by Air Act, 1932.—No.
- (2) If so, whether the consignment note satisfied the requirements of the Convention of Warsaw, of October, 1929.—No.
- (3) Whether the carriage was "international" and, if so, whether the consignment note covered the requirements of the general conditions of carriage of goods.—No.
- (4) Whether the claim was barred by reason of the action not having been started within six months of the loss.—Yes.
- (5) Whether there was, within the meaning of the Convention or of the conditions, a special declaration of value and payment made, and if so, what effect this had in law.—No.

Mr. Justice Porter said that the Convention of Warsaw came into force on February 13, 1933. Great Britain ratified on the next day, but Belgium did not become a part at the date of the theft. The Convention applied only to "international carriage" where the carriage was between the territories of one contracting party and another.

The carriage was therefore not "international," and the action accordingly failed, with costs.

ANGLO-JAPANESE NEGOTIATIONS

National Government Watches With Concern

POSITION REGARDING TALKS EXPLAINED

Shanghai, July 11.

The concern with which the National Government is watching the proposed Anglo-Japanese diplomatic negotiations is manifested in a statement issued here through the Central News Agency, official organ of the Government.

The Agency declares that the following points are the basis of the Chinese Government's position regarding the talks:—

1. All matters relating to China which are taken up in the Anglo-Japanese negotiations must be arranged with full respect for the sovereignty and territorial and administrative integrity of the Chinese nation.

2. Any agreement on matters pertaining to China must be preceded by an exchange of views with the Chinese and also must be endorsed by the latter.

The statement assures that the Chinese authorities are not inclined to indulge in premature speculations. It is recalled that the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden, announced before the House of Commons on June 25 that any possible understanding resulting from the Anglo-Japanese negotiations would not sacrifice Chinese.—Union News.

EMPIRE AIR MAIL

Normal Means Of Transmission

Mr. Robson Lowe, a leading authority on postal history, speaking at a luncheon of Dominion Postmasters General and philatelists at the Royal Empire Society recently, announced that in the near future all first-class mail between the United Kingdom and South Africa, India, Malaya, Australia, and eventually, New Zealand, would be forwarded by air as the ordinary means of transmission instead of by ship and train states the "Manchester Guardian." It would be sent at a flat postage rate, without its being necessary for the sender to affix a blue air-mail label or take any other action indicating that air-mail transmission is intended.

The service to South Africa has begun, to India, Burma, and Malaya by the end of this year, and to Australia by the beginning of next year.

Mr. Lowe said that there would be three services a week to East Africa and two to South Africa, compared with the present once weekly service in each case by surface transport.

By means of the organisation of extended night flying it was intended progressively to attain a schedule which would bring Sydney within seven days of London, Capetown and Singapore within 100 hours, and Karachi and Kisumu within sixty hours. The attainment of this schedule would, however, depend upon the equipment of the routes with adequate night flying facilities and upon the experience gained of the operational possibilities of the scheme.

At the outset the provisional schedule to Sydney would take ten days, Capetown and Singapore being reached in six to seven days, and Karachi and Kisumu, in three to four days.

THREE-POWER LOAN TO CHINA RUMOURED

Dr. H.H. Kung Negotiating Loan In America

Shanghai, July 11.

A cable from London intimates that the British Government is contemplating an invitation to Japan, possibly jointly with the United States, to participate in a three-power loan to China. The cable fails to mention any details but states that, in the event Japan turns down the offer, Britain may advance a loan to China with the United States.

Britain allegedly is planning to ask Japan's participation in realisation of Japan's special role in the Far East and also as a new move to promote closer Anglo-Japanese friendship.

The dispatch states that the Finance Minister, Dr. H. H. Kung is negotiating a loan in the United States with the understanding of the British Government.—Union News.

"NATIONAL EMERGENCY"

Shanghai, July 10.

Although reports from North China this afternoon indicated all was quiet, the authorities were fearing a large-scale exodus on the part of the Chinese population similar to that which preceded the Japanese attack on Shanghai five years ago. It is evident that the civil population is of the opinion that the situation still contains explosive elements, and many Chinese have packed their belongings and are ready to leave for Shanghai and safety at the first recurrence of trouble.

Some have already actually left, though there has been no sign of panic.

CELEBRATIONS CANCELLED
In Shanghai itself, the twelve-day celebrations in connection with the tenth anniversary of the establishment of the Municipality of Greater Shanghai, which fell on Wednesday, have been cancelled.

Official reason for the step is the "national emergency." Passenger bookings for North China, both by train and by boat, have fallen off considerably, while shipments of goods in most cases have been halted for the time being, indicating that opinion in Shanghai considers the truce may be short-lived.

JAPANESE PRECAUTIONS

JAPANESE CLAIM
ON MANOEUVRES
Tokyo, July 10.

A Japanese Foreign Office spokesman, discussing events in North China, declared that Japanese troops, under the treaty had the right to hold manoeuvres anywhere at any time. He stated that the treaty provided that no notice need be given except when it was intended to use live ammunition.

In this case, notice was actually given as an act of grace, although the troops were provided with only one live bullet apiece, which was insufficient for them to return the fire until reinforcements arrived.—Reuter.

JAPANESE PROTEST REJECTED

Shanghai, July 10.

Although the situation in North China has eased, Martial Law is still in force in Peiping, and the streets were deserted after 8 o'clock last night.

At Nanking, General Wang Chung-hui, who returned yesterday from Kuling by air was received by officials at the Japanese Embassy who protested against the "illegal firing by the Chinese forces on the Japanese troops." General Wang Chung-hui rejected the protests on the ground that it was the Japanese and not the Chinese who were responsible for the firing.

Meanwhile the Chinese Press expressed dissatisfaction regarding the terms of settlement of the "Lukuochiao Incident," as the latest trouble has become known. One journal says that the "Japanese are now left in control of Lukuochiao" while another says that "settlement is at best a temporary respite. No solution can be found until the Japanese cease creating incidents and blaming them on the Chinese."

Chinese troops are alleged to have re-occupied both of these places previously in violation of yesterday's agreement.

JAPANESE MEETING

Tokyo: Upon receipt of the news of the resumption of hostilities, the Japanese Foreign Minister held an emergency meeting with his highest staff officers.

CHINESE DEMANDS

Nanking: Prior to the renewal of fighting the Chinese Foreign Office sent a Note to the Japanese Embassy demanding formal apologies in connection with the original clash, punishment of the Japanese officers responsible, compensation for the loss of life and property and guarantees against recurrence of such incidents.

Peiping: A visit to Wanping this morning revealed that the city walls were shell-scarred notably in the neighbourhood of the East Gate which bore the brunt of the Japanese cannonade.

About fifty shells fell inside the city partly wrecking the Administration Offices from which the occupants had fled fifteen minutes earlier. The Police Station and a neighbouring wine shop were also struck.

Fragments of the shells suggest that the Japanese used guns of a calibre ranging from 37 millimetres to 8-inches.

SINO-JAPANESE TALKS

Nanking: Mr. Wang Chung-hui had a conference lasting 90 minutes with Mr. Hidaka, Counsellor at the Japanese Embassy. Amongst other things he drew attention to the Lukuochiao Incident and Mr. Hidaka reply that the Chinese verbal protest in this connection had been sent to Mr. Kawagoe and also the Foreign Office in Tokyo.

The Chinese Foreign Office are sending a representative to Peiping to assist the Hopei-Chuhai Political Council to investigate the matter.

JAPANESE AT SHANHAIKWAN

Tientsin: Six trainloads of Japanese troops from Manchukuo arrived at Shanhaikwan. While the troops were de-training the empty carriages stood by. Fighting was still audible in the vicinity of Fengtai at 7.30 p.m. All trains to the north of Tientsin have stopped.

CITY GATES CLOSED

Peiping: Official Chinese reports state that ten train loads of Japanese troops left for Tientsin from Mukden, two of these having already passed the frontier at Shanhaikwan.

Japanese troops from Fengtai and Tungchow re-appeared in Wanping and proceeded to surround the city. The Chinese authorities were thoroughly alarmed and proceeded to close the gates of Peiping which were opened in the afternoon.

Railway communication with Tientsin has been suspended, it being announced that the "Blue Express" did not leave for Shanghai.

FURIOUS JAPANESE ATTACKS

Peiping: The Chinese authorities announce that serious fighting has recommenced at Wanping, the Japanese furiously attacking the city which had been previously re-occupied by the Chinese.—Reuter.

FIGHTING AT THE WANGPING AREA

Peiping, July 10.

Considerable alarm was renewed by the report that the Japanese troops, who withdrew last night, were returning to Wanping. Six hundred Japanese troops accompanied by four tanks and 27 field pieces left Fengtai this afternoon. The firing which lasted about half an hour recommenced at the Wangping area this afternoon shortly before the Japanese troops left Fengtai.

Ominous sign of Japanese intentions to let loose their mechanised armies from across the border was provided when a party of foreign official and press representatives was stopped and questioned near Wangpinghsien this morning by a Japanese detachment. They only allowed to pass after they had given the assurance that they carried no cameras.

A revised list of casualties suffered by the 29th Route Army shows that approximately 20 have been killed, 20 seriously wounded and 50 slightly wounded.

The Japanese have suffered 10 killed, including one officer and two non-commissioned officers, while two are reported missing, probably dead. Twenty-two Japanese were wounded, including three officers.

PREPARING THE WORLD JAMBOREE SITE

The village of Vogelzang, near Haarlem, Holland, is preparing itself for the 25,000 Boy Scout World Jamboree in August. Nature is taking a large part in the preparations, trees are in full foliage, meadows are looking more like bright green carpets, and with hundreds of birds singing away in the treetops, it is easy to imagine the delightful setting it will be for the hundreds of tents which are to be the homes of boys from all parts of the world.

Carpenters are busy on the spot where the "market" is being erected, and the sound of hammer and saw has disturbed the peaceful silence. Men are digging ditches for telephone cables which will connect the camp with the entire world, platforms are being built, grandstands for the arena, and everything is being cleaned and painted for the reception of the crowds of visitors.

The "market" is to be looked upon as the centre of social intercourse. It will be built in the form of a square, as practically all markets are in Holland, flower beds are planned in the middle, while the Post Office, Restaurant, Bank, Travel Bureau and 45 Shops form the sides. The line of shops will be interspersed with flower pergolas and wooden seats.

The provisions depot will have 8 large refrigerators and 24 electric meat-cutting machines. The stands round the large demonstration ground will be mainly composed of iron tubing, and will accommodate 13,000 persons.

There is no lack of water in Holland! And on the site of the Jamboree there is also plenty of water, comprising waterways and many ditches. No less than 56 bridges of various sizes have had to be built.

15 MONTHS IN "IRON LUNG"

Young American's Return
From China

Mr. Frederick B. Snite, Jr., who has been encased in an "iron lung" since he was smitten with infantile paralysis 15 months ago in Peking while on a world tour, arrived at San Francisco recently and started on the last part of his 12,000-mile journey to his home in Chicago. He was accompanied from Shanghai in the liner President Coolidge by his father, mother, sister, a college classmate who had been making the tour with him, and the Rev. Patrick Moore, a Roman Catholic missionary.

After 447 days in the artificial respirator, which completely covers him except for his head, Mr. Snite was still in excellent spirits, and when told that it would be seven years before he could hope to get along without the aid of the respirator, suggested that it would be wiser to count on nine. "Then it's any less," he said, "we'll be that much to the good."

When the liner came into port, the young man watched her progress through an arrangement of mirrors, and in the same way, after he was taken ashore, he saw

CABLES "SWHONGHAI"

GOOD BATTING BY MIDDLESEX

Human And Robins
Hit Sixes

Four Middlesex men, Hulme, Robins, Edrich, and Human, batted well in the match against Warwickshire, at Lord's where Middlesex scored 361 and dismissed Warwickshire's opening pair for 23.

After lunch, Hulme, who used three different bats, hit ten boundaries in scoring 50.

Warwickshire lost the toss for the fifth successive time, but bowled and fielded so well that over an hour elapsed before a Middlesex batsman hit a boundary.

The conditions were perfect for batsmen, but Wyatt bowled very steadily for an hour and Middlesex, losing Butterworth and Price for 53, were 102 for 3 at lunch-time. Edrich occupied 24 hours over his 57, in which there were some excellent late and square cuts. Compton, who pulled and drove well, was snapped at the wicket, and then Hulme dominated the cricket.

DOMINATING DRIVING

Never afraid to lift the ball over the heads of fieldsmen, Hulme got the ball right in the middle of the bat. He was out to a very good ball that came back and took the leg stump after batting without mistake for eighty minutes. His eleven 4's came from well-timed drives on either side of the wicket.

Human completed 50 before tea in an hour and a quarter, and with Robins put on 98 for the seventh partnership in sixty-five minutes. Human hit two 6's one of which, off Holles, went into the grandstand balcony, and eight 4's in an innings of two hours.

Robins, who also hit a 6 and eight 4's was out to a particularly fine catch by Cranmer, who held a fast travelling ball. The Middlesex captain gave no chance during a stay of an hour and twenty-five minutes.

Left with barely half an hour's batting, Warwickshire, with 20 on the board, lost Kilner at slip, and one run later Crook was 1 b w to a delivery which kept low. They would up 338 behind with eight wickets to fall.

Compton was awarded his county cap by R. W. V. Robins.

YORKSHIRE WIN

Mitchell's 78 In 30 Minutes

The climax to three days of remarkable cricket was reached at Bradford yesterday, when Yorkshire dismissed Kent for 84 and won the match by 287 runs. Yorkshire gave a lively display of batting, scoring 254 in two hours. Mitchell, who made 185, made 78 in half an hour.

Yorkshire had previously collapsed and recovered. Kent started with a big opening partnership. Then they collapsed, and Yorkshire surpassed everything with brilliant batting, bowling, and fielding.

When play began Yorkshire, with one man out for 74, were 117 runs on.

Not for a long time has Mitchell driven with such power, while his hitting on the leg side often scattered the fieldsmen, so fast did the ball travel to the boundary.

Smalles emulated Mitchell, and, driving magnificently, he took only an hour and ten minutes for his 80. He hit a six, a five and twelve fours.

Kent went in requiring 372 to win. Smalles followed up his grand batting by running through the side, and Kent were all out in an hour and a half. In twelve minutes they lost four batsmen for one run.

Smalles took half the wickets for 16 runs.

GERMANY BEATS CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Davis Cup Inter-Zone Final

Berlin, July 8.

Germany virtually made herself safe for the Davis Cup Inter-Zone final against United States to-day, when she won the first two singles in the European Zone final against Czechoslovakia.

Baron von Cramm had a terrific struggle with Roderick Menzel before winning the match 6-1, 7-5.

HEROES FOR GLOUCESTER

Hammond And Goddard

Home Cricket Results

London, July 9.

Gloucester won an exciting finish to their county cricket match with Hampshire to-day by 57 runs. Once again Hammond and Goddard were the heroes for Gloucester. Hammond helped himself to another century (145) scored out of a total of 305, and Goddard twice bowled out Hampshire. In the first innings he took 3 for 80 and in the second six for sixty odd runs.

The scores were: Gloucester 305 and 145, Hampshire, 221 and 172.

Notts, despite a huge score of 519 for 5 declared, could only win first innings points against Somerset. Hardstaff was in great batting form for Notts and hit up 214 not out. Knowles also made 91.

Somerset replied with 195 and, following-on, lost six wickets for 166 runs.

Lancashire also beat Glamorgan on first innings. Lancashire scored 447 (Paynter 184, Washbrook 92) and Glamorgan responded with 275 (Pollard 7 for 78) and 188 for 4.

The first day's play in the annual Eton v. Harrow match at Lord's finished very much in favour of Eton.

Harrow batted first but collapsed against Bannister, who took 6 for 32. Harrow were dismissed for 118.

Before the close Eton had gained a useful lead by scoring 131 for the loss of five wickets. — Reuter.

HUGHES WITHDRAWS FROM DAVIS CUP

Under Doctor's Orders

Wilde To Play

London, July 8.

George P. Hughes, "veteran" of the British Davis Cup team selected for the Challenge Round tie at the end of July, has announced that acting upon doctor's orders, he must withdraw from the team.

The L.T.A. has accepted this intimation with regret and appointed F. H. D. Wilde to replace him. — Reuter.

Hughes was one of the team which wrested the Davis Cup from France five years ago and he has played regularly as doubles player ever since. In 1935 he and his new partner, C. R. D. Tuckey caused a sensation by beating the then acknowledged best doubles pair in the world, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn of United States in the challenge round at Wimbledon.

Frank Wilde has been knocking at the door of international tennis fame for some time, and the selectors had to decide whether he and Hare should not replace Hughes and Tuckey as Britain's doubles representatives. In 1936 Wilde and Hare reached the Wimbledon doubles final only to lose to Tuckey and Hughes.

Now that the introduction of Wilde is necessary, the selectors may make further changes. Charles Hare had already been chosen presumably to play as No. 2 singles, but it is more than likely that Tuckey will now figure in the singles to permit the well-established Hare-Wilde doubles combination to function.

Tuckey, on recent performances is nearly as good a single player as Hare, while it is almost certain that Wilde would not settle down so well with Tuckey as a partner as with Hare.

ing to five sets after Menzel had won the first two.

Earlier on H. Henkel had easily defeated L. Hecht in straight sets.

Hecht could only win one game in the first set, but he offered strong opposition in the next two which both went to the twelfth game.

Germany's No. 1 player, started defeat in the face when he opposed Menzel. The tall Czech won the first set at 6-3, the second at 6-4. Then von Cramm roused himself and carried off the next three sets, conceding but two games in the final set.

The scores as cabled by "Reuter" follow.

H. Henkel (Germany) beat L. Hecht 6-1, 7-5, 7-5.

G. von Cramm (Germany) beat R. Menzel 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

New York, July 9.

The National League leaders, Chicago Cubs, attempted to resist a furious onslaught from Pittsburgh to-day, but failed dlamally. The Pirates scored 13 runs on 19 hits in the Windy City, holding the Cubs to seven hits and a lone tally.

New York, second berth team, was as badly beaten by another invading team, the Brooklyn Dodgers. Brooklyn's 20 hits netted 15 runs, and the Giants, hopelessly outplayed, replied with five hits, and two runs, one of them McCarthy's homer.

Boston, meanwhile, whipped Philadelphia, five to nothing.

St. Louis Cardinals won a close engagement from Cincinnati, eight to seven, each team having ten hits. Myers, Lombardi and Davis hit home runs for the Reds, Medwick for the Cards. Red had three errors.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Boston and Philadelphia played a 12-inning game, Red Sox emerging at the top, 12 to 11. The Athletics outbit the Bostonians, 19 to 17, but they had four errors.

STILL WINNING

New York Yankees, in a class by themselves, continued to win. Washington was the victim. Seventeen hits yielded 16 runs. Gehrig and Dlx Maggio hitting homers, the latter a pair, and Senators could only score two on ten hits.

Chicago was on top of St. Louis at the end of a slugfest, 11 to seven, 18 hits to 14.

Cleveland was narrowly beaten by Detroit, the Tigers' 14 hits bringing in ten runs, the Indians' eight scoring the same number, helped by Solters' homer. — Reuter.

ITALY'S ATTITUDE

Rome, July 11.
Italy's attitude to the North Chinese fighting is one of complete detachment state political circles. Actually Italy is too busy with the Spanish question to pay much attention to China but the Italian-Japanese rapprochement which accompanied by the Japan-German anti-Communist agreement has assured Japan of a more sympathetic hearing than would have been the case before the sanctions period. Since then the Italian press has classed Japan with Italy and Germany as a virile country lacking space.

SERIOUS ATTENTION

Moscow, July 11.
"Pravda" view of the situation is that while organising fresh provocation in North China the Japanese intend to cut off approaches to Chahar from the South to facilitate the suppression of the insurrection of Chahar and create a drill ground at Chahar for further aggression on Suiyuan. The Japanese militarists are seeking the liquids for growing influence in Nanking and North China and to force the Northern Chinese authorities to accept the Japanese demands in order to place Nanking before the fait accompli.

"Evidently the provocation at Lukouchao constitutes the materialisation of Prince Kono's new Japan policy in China." The opposition hitherto offered to Japan reflects a tremendous growth of the anti-Japanese sentiment in China also the Chinese will against Japanese aggression but it would naïve imagine Japan militarists to buckle down to failure, therefore the events in North China deserve serious attention.

PEER GIVES BLOOD FOR BUTLER

Transfusion In Vain After Accident

Lord Sysonby, of Great Tangley Manor, Womersley, near Guildford, underwent blood transfusion at the Royal Surrey County Hospital, Guildford, in a vain effort to save his butler's life.

The butler, Alfred Jackman, whose home address is Manor Way, Rushlip, Middlesex, had been found with gunshot wounds.

Lord Sysonby had arranged with Jackman to shoot magpies suspected of stealing duck's eggs at the back of the Manor, and Jackman went out at 6 a.m. for this purpose. Half an hour later the gardener heard two shots, and walking round the house he found Jackman lying with his feet practically in the moat.

The butler had dragged himself nearly a quarter of a mile through the woods. He was suffering from gunshot wounds in the right arm and side, and was removed to hospital immediately.

Lord Sysonby was called from London and gave his blood from both arms, but Jackman died.

Lord Sysonby, who is 34, is a godson of King Edward VII. He is the son of the first Baron, who was formerly Sir Frederick Ponsonby, for many years Treasurer to King George V.

GIFTED TO ADMIRALTY

Nelson's quadrant and Hardy's sextant were presented to the Board of Admiralty by Mr. M. J. Savage, Prime Minister of New Zealand, on behalf of a New Zealander who wishes to remain anonymous.

These two historic nautical instruments, which were at one time part of the collection of the late Miss Pamela Hardy, a great-granddaughter of Captain Hardy, are to be added to the collection in R.M.S. Victory at Portsmouth.

Commodore E. Holland, representing the Commander-in-Chief, Portsmouth, was present at the Admiralty when Mr. Savage, accompanied by Mr. W. J. Joseph, High Commissioner for New Zealand, made the presentation.

WHEN MILK IS PASTEURISED

Experts And Effect On Food Value

Pasteurisation, while destroying bacteria, leaves the food value of milk virtually untouched, according to an investigation conducted on behalf of the Milk Nutrition Committee, representing the Medical Research Council, the Ministry of Health, the Board of Education, and the Milk Marketing Board, writes a Home Science correspondent.

It is believed that this investigation, carried out at Reading University, will practically end the ten-years' old controversy regarding the effect on milk of pasteurisation.

Lord Cranworth, in the House of Lords, recently stated that pasteurisation "destroyed some" of the important parts of milk. The Reading inquiry provides strong evidence that this is not the case.

The most complete investigation of its kind yet undertaken, it is part of a "three-legged" scheme promoted by a technical sub-committee of the Milk Nutrition Committee.

Three sets of experiments were to be carried out—on rats, calves and children. The National Institute for Research in Dairying, at Reading, University, was made responsible for the rat tests, and it is this section of the programme which has been completed. While the results of the two other sets of experiments have not yet been published, it is expected that they will provide further support for the conclusions reached at Reading.

A summary of the work, published in the Institute's annual report, shows that out of six food-elements in milk which were specifically tested, pasteurisation produced no adverse effect whatever in the case of four. The food elements in question are protein, calcium and phosphorus and vitamin A.

Corresponding tests in the case of vitamin B showed only "a certain small degree of destruction" of the vitamin. With vitamin C, only one-fifth of the vitamin was found to be destroyed.

A further test of "the total nutritive value" of the milk was also made. From this it was concluded that no unknown constituent of milk which was necessary for health could be seriously damaged by pasteurisation.

HUMANE SLAUGHTER

This is the sort of thing one naturally associates with wars, big and little, where there is always somebody to urge the adoption of some scheme for killing people in a more gentlemanly fashion than is generally the case and to issue a non-partisan appeal to the combatants to slit one another's throats bloodlessly, as it were says the "Times of Malaya".

However, that is by the way and serves only to introduce us to this apparent contradiction in terms—humane slaughter. There is such a thing, you know. The local abattoirs have installed an electric stunning apparatus to kill pigs more or less painlessly, or as painlessly as possible. The pig might not altogether appreciate the difference, but it does appear to be desirable that the system could be profitably introduced "throughout Malaya."

This method of slaughtering was advocated by the Hon. Mr. Veerasamy in the Federal Council. It is not clear, however, why only pigs should receive this treatment. The system might be extended to include all beasts. I have seen goats dragged to the slaughter block and while two people held it in position, the head severed by a sharp knife. True most of these killings are quick and sure, but there have been many instances of failure when the unfortunate animal experiences unnecessary agony. The method of slaughtering bullocks is still more painful, and it is time these beasts also received the stunning through the electrodes, and then slaughtered.

VICAR ATTACKS CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"HARMFUL SYSTEM"

The following is taken from the London "Morning Post."

Christian Science has given a new and healthier outlook on life to many people, but it has been accompanied by evils which render the system "harmful and utterly unacceptable to any Christian, or even to any reasonable person."

This statement is made by the Rev. G. W. Butterworth, Vicar of the Church of the Ascension, Balham Hill, in a pamphlet entitled "The Church and Christian Science," issued by the Press and Publications Board of the Church Assembly.

The "evils," according to Dr. Butterworth, are:

1. "Although Mrs. Eddy (Mary Baker Eddy who, in 1879, founded the Church of Christ, Scientist, at Boston, Mass.) herself used the services of doctors, she poured scorn on medical science. As a result, many patients, including helpless children suffering from dangerous diseases, are put into the hands of Christian Science 'practitioners,' and unnecessary pain, and sometimes death, results.

2. "Christian Science has no message for the poor and afflicted. Its votaries are normally people in comfortable surroundings, as anyone can see by visiting a Christian Science church. It makes no attempt to cure the vast number of ill—social, physical, and mental—under which men suffer. It simply denies that they exist.

3. "Christian Science knows neither humility nor sympathy. Though it calls itself 'Science,' not a single scientist of eminence has ever been found within its ranks.

"NO MASTERY"

4. "It is anti-Christian. Jesus Christ faced the suffering and sin that are in the world. Neither is in accordance with the Will of God, but both are real. Jesus affirmed that His followers must be prepared to bear the Cross. This way heroes and martyrs have been made. Christian Science will never produce a martyr, for it ignores the evil and tries to live in a happy dream world. This is the opposite of the spirit of Jesus Christ."

"The Church of Christ," the writer maintains, "can make no terms with such a system."

Before arriving at this conclusion, Dr. Butterworth gives some relevant and little-known details of Mrs. Eddy's life, and explains the major doctrines of the movement, including that referred to in the "Christian Science Journal" of April, 1899, where it was stated: "Mrs. Eddy has distinctly authorised the claim on her behalf that she herself was the chosen successor to, and equal of, Jesus."

(It will be recalled that a few years ago, the Rev. H. V. Koop, then Assistant Chaplain of St. John's Cathedral, Hong Kong, delivered an outspoken sermon on "Is Christian Science Christianity?") the head severed by a sharp knife. True most of these killings are quick and sure, but there have been many instances of failure when the unfortunate animal experiences unnecessary agony. The method of slaughtering bullocks is still more painful, and it is time these beasts also received the stunning through the electrodes, and then slaughtered.
